

Travelling to Enschede:

In order to travel to Enschede, we would like to give you some information which might be helpful for you to find your way to Enschede.

By air and train:

If you are flying to Amsterdam Schiphol Airport, the best way of travelling to Enschede is by train; this trip will take just a little more than 2 hours; trains are leaving twice per hour (at .37 mostly a direct train from Schiphol, at .07 hrs you will need to change at Amersfoort station). The itinerary and the costs of the trip can be found on the website of the Dutch railway company. Tickets can be bought at the NS Service desk at Schiphol.

By car from the western part of the Netherlands:

Coming from the A1 motorway, please check the route to ITC here.

A map of Enschede where you will find the location of ITC, the railway station and hotels is attached to this e-mail.

By car from Germany:

From Münster (A1): take B54 to Gronau, it will change into the N35 to Enschede and then follow the route as shown on the map. There is a car park behind the ITC building.
